jwi JEWISH WOMEN
INTERNATIONAL

Congratulations to the extraordinary women being honored at JWI's Women to Watch luncheon.

Their incredible stories of resilience, passion, and commitment inspire us to embrace change, empower communities, and drive progress.

As co-chairs of this event, we are immensely proud to stand alongside these phenomenal leaders. Being a part of the JWI community is more than an affiliation; it's a commitment to empowering women, amplifying voices, and championing positive change.

We are honored to be part of an organization that recognizes and elevates these exceptional women who are shaping a better world for us all.

*With love,
Jayme and Sharon*

ABOUT JWJ

Since 1897, JWJ has been empowering the next generation of women and girls, amplifying the voices of women, and advocating for social change. Our transformative advocacy and philanthropic initiatives, innovative women's leadership programs, and powerful young women's network events are at work every day to end gender-based violence, promote long-term economic security, and mentor the next generation of leaders. JWJ is building a better world for all women and girls.

THE WOMEN TO WATCH CELEBRATION

This year marks the 21st annual celebration of JWJ honoring extraordinary Women to Watch, highlighting inspiring women role models who are making an impact on their communities, their industries, and the world around them. These women pave the way for women to follow by inspiring others to achieve with their strength and intelligence. This celebration amplifies women's voices, shines a bright light on women's leadership, and inspires the next generation.

THE WOMEN'S LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

The conference connects future leaders with current and former Women to Watch, empowers women to speak up on issues that matter most to them, and brings women into a welcoming Jewish community. The conference offers content for women of all ages and stages – from high school and college students, to professionals in our Young Women's Impact Network, to women age 35 through retirement. The conference is funded by JWJ's Sondra D. Bender Leadership Institute.

JWJ'S PHILANTHROPY

JWJ is deeply committed to supporting initiatives and programs that help women and children build more secure and healthy lives. Our philanthropic initiatives bolster the financial literacy and security of women and girls across the economic spectrum, while the National Library Initiative establishes new children's libraries in domestic violence shelters nationwide.

THE SONDRAD. BENDER LEADERSHIP AWARD

Named to honor the late philanthropist and generous supporter of JWJ's work to empower women and girls, this award honors one woman each year for her work to galvanize the Washington, D.C. community, mentor new leaders and make the D.C. area a better place to live, work, and thrive.

THE LORIBETH WEINSTEIN CHANGEMAKER AWARD

Named to honor JWJ's CEO Emerita of 20 years Loribeth Weinstein, this award carries on Loribeth's legacy by recognizing one woman each year who stands at the precipice of social change – serving as a leader of social justice and inspiring her community with a passion for tikkun olam.

WOMEN TO WATCH

LEADERSHIP SYMPOSIUM AND AWARDS

This year's Women to Watch celebration honors 12 extraordinary Jewish women role models – leaders in business, philanthropy, spirituality, social justice, and more.

WOMEN TO WATCH HONOREES

Jill Basinger

Chief Legal Officer,
Discovery Land
Company

Jill Basinger is the chief legal officer at Discovery Land Company, a world-renowned real estate developer and operator of private club communities and resorts, where she oversees all litigations and develops corporate legal strategy and compliance programs. Jill's origin story is the American Dream: After she and her family immigrated from the former Soviet Union when she was six years old, Jill became so proficient in English that she helped lead her UCLA debate team to win the Cross Examination Debate Association National Debate title – twice. (As a bonus, she met her husband there.) After earning her B.A. in political science from UCLA, Jill graduated from the University of Michigan Law School, clerked for a federal court judge, and began her legal career at Quinn Emanuel. Jill became a partner at McDermott Will & Emery, then at Glaser Weil, where she specialized in general commercial litigation, crisis management and response, and employment discrimination and harassment. Jill has received numerous awards and recognitions, including being named a California Top Women Lawyer by the Daily Journal, a Power Lawyer by the Hollywood Reporter, a top litigator by Variety, and a Super Lawyer. Jill was previously the litigation section co-chair on the board of the Women Lawyers Association of Los Angeles, and currently serves on the board of the Los Angeles Metropolitan Debate League.

WOMEN TO WATCH HONOREES

Eileen Filler-Corn

Representative
and Former Speaker,
Virginia House
of Delegates

Eileen Filler-Corn served as the 56th Speaker of the Virginia House of Delegates. She was both the first woman and the first Jew to serve as speaker in the 400-year history of Virginia's legislature. Filler-Corn rose to this role after serving in the House for a decade, making her ascension to the post the fastest ever. Today, she continues to serve her community and commonwealth in the House of Delegates, fighting on behalf of her constituents and all Virginians. Representing the 41st House District, which includes portions of Fairfax County. Eileen's passion for service shines through her tireless work to make the Commonwealth of Virginia a better place to live, work, and raise a family. Her commitment to improving the lives of her neighbors is what drove her to run for the House of Delegates. She has spent her time in the legislature as a listener and problem-solver, delivering results that move her community forward and advocating for everyone equally regardless of background, circumstance, or ideology. She has introduced, championed, and passed legislation that has made Virginia a safer, stronger, and more equal Commonwealth.

WOMEN TO WATCH HONOREES

Barbara Guterman

Sondra D. Bender
Community Leadership
Honoree

Entrepreneur and
Women's Mentor

Barbara Guterman is a seasoned entrepreneur, passionate business executive, and a veteran community organizer with a desire to create powerful change. In the last 35 years, Barbara has launched companies and managed businesses in telecommunications, retail, franchising, manufacturing, fine jewelry, and in Internet-based start-ups. Her experience ranges from small business to large-scale public corporations and covers management, operations, sales, investor relations, public relations, community relations, and external affairs. At just 23 years old, Barbara co-created one of the nation's first competitive local phone companies – the first in its industry to go public, raising more than $80 million and growing to 5000+ employees. Barbara was featured in Forbes' September 1995 issue as a "Woman with a Mission," and she was the first person to don the cover of Reader's Digest as a distinguished woman entrepreneur. She was also recognized as Ernst and Young's 1997 Florida Entrepreneur of the Year. Barbara received her B.A. in telecommunication from the University of Florida and an MBA from the University of South Florida, where she was named USF's 1993 Entrepreneur of the Year. She is currently a mentor and partner in several startup businesses and runs the Teach Give Inspire Fridays women's speakers series. Barbara has served as VP of the board of KEEN Greater DC for the last 12 years, is an entrepreneur-in-residence at The Bullis School in Potomac, Md., and is the current president of Congregation Bna'i Tzedek in Potomac. She is a devoted wife and mother to three grown sons who share her passion for business and for giving back.

WOMEN TO WATCH HONOREES

Tiffany Harris

Chief Program Officer,
Moishe House

Tiffany Harris is the chief program officer at Moishe House, where she oversees a global program team that engages hundreds of thousands of Jewish young adults each year. Before Moishe House, Tiffany oversaw a global education program focused on accelerating IT and cloud-related learning at Amazon. Previously with the Peace Corps, Tiffany served as the organization headquarters' public affairs specialist; was a founding member of both Shalom Corps (Peace Corps' Jewish employee resource group) and the Peace Corps diversity board; and sat on the chief of staff's diversity governance council. The National Peace Corps Association honored Tiffany on its Decennial "40 under 40" lists. Tiffany is a former board member of Moishe House and the Jim Joseph Foundation. Her undergraduate degrees are from Seattle University, and she has an M.A. from Tel Aviv University. A former leader of JWT's Young Women's Impact Network, Tiffany led the creation of JWT's 1-on-1 mentoring program. She earned an Executive Certificate in Project Management from Georgetown University, she completed the Board Member Institute for Jewish Nonprofits at the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University, and she is currently pursuing an executive certificate in applied business analytics from MIT.

WOMEN TO WATCH HONOREES

Tamar Manasseh

Loribeth Weinstein
Changemaker Honoree

Rabbi, Anti-Gun
Violence Activist, and Community Leader

Tamar Manasseh is an anti-gun violence activist, community leader, mother of two, and rabbi. In 2015, Tamar founded MASK, Mothers and Men Against Senseless Killings, on the south side of Chicago. MASK's purpose is to put eyes on the streets, interrupt violence and crime, and teach children to grow up as friends rather than as enemies. MASK's primary mission is to build stronger communities through a focus on violence prevention, food security, and housing; the organization also creates partnerships to ensure that community members have access to necessary city services, opportunities for education and professional skills growth, and economic development. Tamar has also helped launch MASK initiatives in other Chicago neighborhoods, as well as in cities throughout the United States, including Evansville, Ind., Staten Island, Brooklyn, and Memphis. She was named Chicagoan of the Year in 2016 and has received awards from Ebony magazine, NOW Chicago chapter Vernita Gray Community Advocate Award, and a citation from the City of New York for her work in the community. She is a member of the Elluminate Collective, Cohort II, and of JWT's Jewish Gun Violence Prevention Roundtable. In 2023, she founded Shachar, an organization that serves as a bridge between Black Jews, the larger American Jewish community, and African Americans.

WOMEN TO WATCH HONOREES

Samantha Saperstein

Managing Director of Women on the Move Center of Excellence at JPMorgan Chase & Co.

Samantha Saperstein leads the Women on the Move Center of Excellence at JPMorgan Chase & Co., where she manages programs designed to fuel female ambition and ensure women have equal access and opportunity. She collaborates with internal teams and external partners on initiatives that support women entrepreneurs, educate female consumers, and empower female employees. Previously Samantha spent five years as chief marketing officer of Chase Commercial Banking; she joined the bank in 2012 as head of credit card strategy for Chase Consumer & Community Banking. Prior to joining Chase, Samantha was group head of U.S. Core Products at MasterCard, responsible for the development and rollout of all U.S. credit, debit, commercial, and prepaid card programs, and management of the U.S. loyalty platform. Earlier in her career, Samantha was a strategy consultant at McKinsey & Company, and also worked in journalism covering the U.S. Treasury market and macroeconomics for Dow Jones Newswires, The Wall Street Journal, and Barron's. Samantha serves on the board of Safe Horizon, the nation's largest agency supporting victims of domestic violence, child abuse, human trafficking, and youth homelessness, as well as the board of advisors for Catalyst. She has a B.A. from Brown University and an M.B.A. from The Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania, and lives in Westchester, N.Y., with her husband and three children.

WOMEN TO WATCH HONOREES

Jennie Schaff

CEO of the Max and Marian Farash Charitable Foundation

Jennie Schaff, Ph.D., is the CEO of the Max and Marian Farash Charitable Foundation in Rochester, N.Y., where she oversees the strategic distribution of the foundation monies to both Jewish and secular causes. Prior to her role at the foundation, Schaff served as the president and CEO of Jewish Family Services of Rochester. During her tenure there, she oversaw the growth of barrier-free mental health services, developed holistic programming for affordable housing residents, and ensured the agency was serving the community throughout the entire lifespan. Schaff earned her Ph.D. in education from George Mason University, which prepared her for nearly 20 years as a professor of education. Thirteen of those years were spent at Nazareth College, where she helped to shape K-12 educators in and around Rochester and gained a unique perspective on the challenges and opportunities within the current educational system. Jennie lives in Brighton, N.Y. with her three children, two stepchildren, and her husband, David Clar.

Natalie Silverstein

Author and Philanthropic Entrepreneur

Natalie Silverstein, MPH, is an author, speaker, consultant, nonprofit founder, and passionate advocate for family and youth service. Her first book, Simple Acts: The Busy Family's Guide to Giving Back, was published in 2019 and was named one of the Top Books for Parents Who Want to Raise Kind Kids by HuffPost. Her second book, Simple Acts: The Busy Teen's Guide to Making a Difference, was published in July 2022. She is the host of the award-winning "Simple Acts, Big Impact: Celebrating Teen Changemakers" podcast. As the New York coordinator of Doing Good Together, a national nonprofit helping parents raise kids who care and contribute, Natalie curates a free monthly email listing of family-friendly service opportunities for thousands of subscribers. Her essays and interviews have appeared in Katie Couric's Wake-Up Call newsletter, Good Housekeeping, Medium, Zibby Mag, TeenInk, Grown and Flown, and Motherwell. Along with her husband Jonathan, she is the co-founder of The Silverstein Foundation for Parkinson's with GBA, a nonprofit committed to finding a cure for Parkinson's Disease in GBA mutation carriers. As a philanthropist, Natalie is a founding member of Impact 100 NYC, a women's giving circle, and a member of the Legacy Collective. Natalie holds a master's degree in public health from Yale University. She lives in New York City with her husband and three children.

Audrey Wisch

Young Women's Impact
Network Honoree

Co-Founder and CEO of Curious Cardinals

Audrey Wisch paused her studies at Stanford University to pursue Curious Cardinals, chasing her dreams to not only help K-12 students unlock their greatest potential, but also to provide college students with meaningful work. After teaching her first workshop on mass incarceration to high school students at the start of the pandemic, Audrey mobilized her most ambitious peers at Stanford and beyond to share topics they were passionate about to K-12 students. Since then, Audrey has spoken on CNN and in Forbes to share her vision to create a community of lifelong learners and doers. Curious Cardinals has now raised $6.8 million in seed funding led by Anthos Capital and Audacious Ventures. She was recognized in the 2022 Forbes 30 Under 30 Education and Youngest category. At Stanford, Audrey was a history major whose research on the history of sexual assault was published in the Stanford Historical Journal. When Audrey is not working or speaking to members of the Curious Cardinals community, she can be found running while listening to podcasts, reading, or in art museums.

Jackie, Amy, and Shelby Zitelman

Co-Founders of Soom Foods

Sisters Jackie, Amy, and Shelby Zitelman created tahini-centric, Philadelphia-based Soom Foods in 2013.

CPO Jackie Zitelman graduated with a B.A. in government from IDC Herzliya and a master's degree in environmental studies from Tel Aviv University. Along with her sister Amy, Jackie was named to the Forbes 30 under 30 list in 2018. She is married to Omri and has three children – Liel, Eve, and Almog. They live on Moshav Shavei Tzion in the Western Galilee, Israel.

CEO Amy Zitelman earned a B.A. in communication from the University of Delaware in 2011 and spent the following year soaking up culture and teaching English in Israel. Amy is the author of The Tahini Table: Go Beyond Hummus with 100 Recipes for Every Meal and in Between, and was named to Forbes' 30 Under 30 in 2018 for the food and drink category. She lives outside Philadelphia with her husband Darren and young sons Henry, Jesse, and Miles.

Board President Shelby Zitelman is also senior VP of business development at Zitelman Partners. She graduated from the Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania in 2007 and lives in Center City Philadelphia with her husband, Dan Stamm, and their three fun-loving boys, Malcolm, Julius, and Simon. Shelby sits on the boards of the Jewish Federation of Philadelphia, the American Living Organ Donor Fund, and Twist Out Cancer, as well as the Jewish Relief Agency finance committee. She was named to the Philadelphia Business Journal 40 Under 40 list in 2019.

Luncheon Emcee

Jennifer Maxfield Ostfeld (WTW '17) is an Emmy-award winning reporter and anchor who has covered New York and New Jersey for two decades, currently for NBC New York. Maxfield's first book, More After the Break: A Reporter Returns to Ten Unforgettable News Stories, was published in July of 2022. She won a local news Emmy in 2018, and her anchoring and reporting were part of NBC-NY's COVID-19 coverage that was awarded the Alfred I. DuPont-Columbia University Award in 2021, the broadcast equivalent of the Pulitzer Prize. She serves on the board of visitors at Columbia College and the board of trustees at the Elisabeth Morrow School.

Symposium Moderator

Laura E. Adkins is an award-winning writer, editor, and speaker based in New York. She is the opinion editor of the Forward. Laura's writing on antisemitism, Orthodox Judaism, data, and gender has appeared in The Washington Post, The New York Times, the Los Angeles Review of Books, Glamour, and other outlets. She was previously the opinion editor of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, the editor of Jewish Insider, and an assistant blogs editor at The Times of Israel.

LAND COMPANY

We are so proud of the number one woman in all of our lives, Michelle Carlson, who is serving as Chair of JWI. You are a wonderful role model and have set an incredible example for our boys of what it means to be a dedicated, enthusiastic and compassionate leader. We are in awe of all you are able to accomplish while always making sure that the three of us are your top priority.

Our entire family is extremely proud of your passion for JWI's Library Project and are looking forward to the dedication of the Carlson Family Library at SafeNest in Las Vegas this spring. You make a lasting impact in everything you do, and we are lucky to be your biggest fans cheering you on!

We love you so much!

RJ, Jason and Brian

The Past National Presidents of Sigma Delta Tau Sorority are so proud of our sister Michelle Carlson as she serves as Chair of JWJ. Michelle's passion for JWJ's mission to empower women and girls is inspiring and will create a lasting impact on the lives of others.

For two decades, SDT and JWJ have shared a wonderful partnership. We are excited for our continued success under Michelle's leadership.

Congratulations, Michelle!
We love you and are inspired by all you do!

Dear Michelle,

You are a wonderful daughter, mother, cousin and friend. We could not be more proud of the woman that you have become. Dad and I are beaming with pride as you serve as Chair of JWJ. Your devotion to Jewish values and ideals is evident in all that you do. As we watch you make a difference through JWJ, we know you are paving the way for the next generation of strong, independent and empowered women.

We love you so much!

KOL HAKAVOD TO TIFFANY HARRIS AND ALL OF THE 2023 JWI WOMEN TO WATCH!

The Jewish people have always tapped into a tradition of strength and resilience to navigate challenging times. Each of you is a shining example of this. We are inspired by how you are leading with integrity and grit, and we are grateful for your work to help shape a more just and inclusive society.

To our friends at JWI: Thank you for your dedication to empowering women and girls within the Jewish community and beyond. Your work reminds us that when we combine our individual flickers of hope and resilience, we create a flame capable of lighting up the dark.

We are proud to join you in celebrating these outstanding women together!
